> ONLINE VIEWING AND DELIVERY OF CUSTOMER COMMUNICATIONS

FACT SHEET

Enhance your customer communications using an online communication management system that caters for customer service representatives, customers and intermediaries.

Vital to the success of any customer-focused company is the ability to effectively manage multi-channelled customer interaction.

Computershare's Viewpoint is a fully hosted online communication management system that enables fast and convenient access to all inbound and outbound customer communications.

Viewpoint is highly flexible and can be configured to your business requirements within four to ten weeks (depending on the complexity of your requirements).

REDUCE YOUR COSTS

Reduce your communication costs by enabling customers to access their communications and other information via a convenient online self-service channel. Providing customers with multiple communication channels, such as mail, email, fax and web delivery, can significantly reduce your print and mail costs while offering greater choice. Viewpoint also uses a single formatting application for both print and online delivery, saving you money and reducing risk.

IMPROVE YOUR CUSTOMER SERVICE

Enable your customer service representatives to instantly view outbound and inbound customer communications online. By viewing the identical communications received or sent by your customers, your staff will resolve issues faster and more effectively, reducing call times and non-call activities (eg. resending documents). Your staff can also re-send communications instantly via mail, fax or email.

A PROVEN TRACK RECORD

Avert the need to create and maintain your own costly and time-consuming applications and technology - allowing your IT department to focus on your core business. As a proven and successful Application Service Provider (ASP), Computershare can deliver a fully-scalable and accessible web-based communication solution that can be easily integrated with your existing internal applications.

SECURE AND LEGALLY COMPLIANT

All information is stored in compliance with record retention laws, while full hot-site data and system redundancy and the ability to set permissions for your staff ensures your customer data is secure. We also guarantee uptime and responses through our Service Level Agreements, and use open standards for the storage of data in preference to using proprietary formats.
